The California Consumer Privacy Act, as amended by the California Privacy Rights Act (collectively CPRA) gives California residents the right to know what categories of Personal Information we collect and the purposes for which we use that information. The CPRA has a broad definition of "consumer," which covers all California residents, including individuals acting as representatives of their employers. This Business to Business (B2B) notice ("Notice") addresses California-specific requirements and serves as our California notice at collection.

If you are a resident of California, this Notice, together with our Digital Privacy Policy \(DPP\) and Notice of Privacy Practices \(NPP\), may apply to you.

We may update this Notice from time to time. If we make material changes, we will revise the Last Updated date above, which will serve as ongoing notice of such changes. We encourage you to review this Notice regularly to stay informed about our information management practices and the choices available to you.

Personal Information

Personal Information includes information that identifies, relates to, describes, is reasonably capable of being associated with, or could reasonably be linked, directly or indirectly with a particular consumer or household.

U.S. State Privacy Laws do not apply to health or medical information regulated by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), and this Notice does not apply to such data, or other data types which are excluded under U.S. State Privacy Laws. However, other governing documents, such as a HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices (NPP), may apply.

The services we provide to our clients are driven primarily by the collection of health data. We perform certain functions or activities that involve the use or disclosure of protected health information (PHI) and are considered a business associate, as defined by HIPAA, of our group health plan/self-funded customers. As such, the extent to which we collect and use PHI as a business associate subject to HIPAA makes us generally exempt from the scope and applicability of CPRA; however, we are still in scope for CPRA with respect to B2B data, such as Personal Information about individual representatives of employers.
